GRAY DIVORCE FOR EXECUTIVES, ATHLETES,& FAMILY OFFICES - OCT. 17, 2023

A divorce involving parties who are 50 years of age or older is referred to as a "gray divorce." According to data from the U.S. Census Bureau, adults ages 55 to 64 have the highest number of divorces among married adults over age 20.

While divorce is a stressful time for all involved parties, the impact of your decision isn't limited to negative consequences. Many separating couples experience positive, healthy changes after ending a marriage. It's important to prioritize your life by making the best decisions for your personal well-being.
