

PHIL HAMMER TO BE A PANELIST AT STANFORD EVENT ON FREE SPEECH

Date 11.30.2011
Time 6:30 to 9:00 pm
Location Stanford Law School

From Public Squares to Platforms: Free Speech in the Networking World

Description:

From local issues like the BART protests to national and international movements like Occupy and the Arab Spring, individuals and organizations are increasingly utilizing the Internet, social networking, and mobile devices to communicate and connect. This diverse panel from academia, public interest, and private practice, will discuss the opportunities and challenges for free speech as it increasingly moves from the town square to the networked world.

Co-sponsored by the California State Bar Cyberspace Committee and the Stanford Center for Internet and Society

1.5 hours MCLE credit available.

Panelists:

Dorothy Chou
Senior Policy Analyst, Google

Linda Lye
Staff Attorney, ACLU of Northern California

Philip Hammer
Attorney, Hoge Fenton Jones & Appel

Andrew McLaughlin
Non-Residential Fellow at the Center for Internet and Society; Executive Director of Civic Commons

Laurence Pulgram
Attorney, Fenwick and West LLP

Moderator:

Nicole Ozer, Co-Chair- California State Bar Cyberspace Committee, Technology and Civil Liberties
Policy Director, ACLU of Northern California

Register for this event »