

SOME POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS TRICK CALIFORNIA DONORS INTO RECURRING PAYMENTS

LOS ANGELES TIMES FILE

Candidates from both political parties use this tactic to ensnare California donors into recurring contributions without consent.

In the Sacramento Bee commentary, Catharine Baker, Special Counsel at Hoge Fenton and Vice-Chair of the California Fair Political Practices Commission, Richard Miadich, discuss how the unfair practice needs to end and how amendments to Assembly Bill 775 can make that happen.
